

Typical Wastewater Treatment Plant Flow Diagram

Did You Know that...

- Wastewater treatment plants are not generic and vary from one location to another.
- Some plants have two separate components to the secondary process and some have units combined into one.
- Some Wastewater treatment plants have an odour control process to prevent odours affecting nearby residents.
- Wastewater treatment plants work 24 hours a day, 365 days a year to provide an important sanitation service that protects public health and the environment.